Disability RMS Announces New Administrative Services Division

Expansion of Westbrook Operation Results in Double Digit New Hires

WESTBROOK, Maine — March 10, 2010 — Disability RMS, the nation's leading provider of turnkey disability risk management products and services, today announced that it has formed an Administrative Services division. Specializing in voluntary benefits administration, the new division provides integrated turnkey administrative services to employers, brokers and carriers that sponsor voluntary employee benefit plans. Leveraging proprietary systems and service models designed specifically to address the unique needs of the voluntary employee benefits business, the service offering includes premium billing, certificate and contract issue and customer service. Lisa Philbrick, Disability RMS vice president, claims, will lead the new Administrative Services division. "We are excited to expand our capabilities and provide a comprehensive solution to meet the growing demand for voluntary benefits," said Philbrick.

"We are very pleased to expand our business to include the new Administrative Services division," noted Amy Thompson, Disability RMS, human resources officer. "We are especially pleased that the expansion has resulted in 18 new hires – wonderful news, particularly in light of this challenging economy."
