Disability RMS Executives to Serve as Featured Speakers at NECA Conference

Presenters to Address Importance and Impact of High Quality Standards in Claim Organizations

WESTBROOK, Maine — May 24, 2010 — Disability RMS, the nation's leading provider of turnkey disability risk management products and services, today announced that Scott M. Sperry and Kathryn M. Breed, will serve as the featured presenters at the New England Claim Association conference set for June 4 in Charleton, MA. In a session (9:00-9:45 a.m.) titled "Appeals and Beyond: How to Ensure Quality, Consistency and Compliance in a Claims Organization," Sperry and Breed, Disability RMS claims managers, will cover traditional auditing, claims segment and data integrity reviews, block recertification and appeals analysis. The presentation will focus on the importance of establishing a peer review protocol within the claim management process as well as methods for identifying opportunities for improvements within claim organizations.

"Peer reviews are often viewed as punitive," said Breed. "Our goal is to emphasize the positive impacts associated with these types of reviews." "The financial impact of data integrity corrections alone are significant, making them a vital part of the process," added Sperry.

About New England Claims Association

The New England Claim Association (NECA) was organized in 1927 for the purpose of promoting goodwill, harmony, confidence and cooperation within the insurance claim industry. The purpose of the organization is to promote continued education and to endorse standard claim practices to benefit the insurance industry and its customers.
